Death of Mrs. Coleman.
Mrs. Mary Jane Coleman, widow of the late Nelson S. Coleman, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Burch, corner Withers and H streets, this morning at 11 o'clock, aged 74 years. She deceased was a daughter of Mrs. Wesley Christian, of Amherst. During her long life she was known and loved for her many Christian virtues. She is survived by eight children—Mrs. J. M. Burch, Mrs. Robert A. Ewers, Mrs. Geo. T. Blanks, Mrs. Nathaniel Moon, Mrs. Jack Sharda, Messrs. William, Charles E. and James Coleman. The remains will be taken to the old family burying ground, near Amherst Court House, where the interment will take place to-day.—Lynchburg News.

Marrriage of Miss Peters.

Marsh, of Roanoke, and Miss Lucie Greiner and Mr. Henry Martin, of Amherst, were the attendants. After the marriage a sumptuous supper was served. The bride and groom will spend some days in visiting, and then will leave for Roanoke, their future home.—Lynchburg Advance.

The Speed Home Burned.
CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 8.—The Speed Home for Friendless Children on East Madison avenue, near Lexington, was destroyed by an incendiary fire to-day. The inmates all escaped. Since last Saturday eight attempts had been made to burn the building. The police have been at work on the case night and day but failed to find the slightest clue of the incendiaries.

THE PUPILS' RECITAL.

A Most Delightful Musical at Mrs. Seeligson's Last Night.

All of the recitals given by Mrs. Ella Gottschalk-Seeligson's pupils have been most delightful affairs, but that given last evening at her studio on Seventh avenue s. w. was probably the most charming event of the kind that the people of Roanoke have ever had the pleasure of attending.

Last evening's entertainment was the first of the season, and although the program was most elaborate, and abounding in difficult, high-class numbers, the splendid work of her pupils delighted and surprised the large audience present.

The opening number on the programme, "Il Guiramento," by Edward Seeligson, Miss Pace and Mrs. Seeligson, was an excellent one and an index of what was to follow. The duet, from Kenney, by little Edwena and Marguerite Seeligson, was exquisite and rendered in good time. Little Eugenia Wilkinson, Irene Bachrach, Annie Hobbs and Jennie Watts all deserve special mention, doing their work in a remarkably intelligent manner. Misses Pearl Swink, Annie Sexton, Phoebe Booth and Blanche Riffe played with good time and showed considerable talent. Windsor Soule in "Karuthner Dirndl" and Mary Darnall in Zannoi's barcarole rendered their pieces with excellent expression and feeling.

In second part of the programme the overture, "Lohengrin," by the Misses Huger was exquisite, the expression and time being almost perfect. Annie Wooten, Sarah Cox, Miss Mangus, Alada Booth, Clara Gray and Hattie Way all had difficult numbers and performed them nicely. Lilla Jamison did wonderfully good work, having only been under instruction for a month. Misses Bessie Huger, Sadie Booth, Bettie Ephraim, Ola Meadows, Pauline Massie, Mattie Pace and Edward Seeligson, the more advanced pupils, have shown remarkable progress and performed most difficult pieces in splendid style.

Edward Seeligson, in his performance of Chopin's "Polonaise" without his notes, indicates a brilliant future for him.

The evening's entertainment, as a whole, was a most charming one, and the large audience, composed of parents and friends of the pupils, were delighted with the success of the pupils and charmed with the thorough manner in which Mrs. Seeligson is training them.

METHODIST EXTENSION SOCIETY.
The Proceedings Enlivened by an Acrimonious Debate.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The meeting of the Methodist Extension Society to-day was enlivened by an acrimonious debate. This was aroused by the discussion of the plan to set aside from the $89,000 to be asked from the commission, $50,000 for a contingent fund, $15,000 for an emergency and $24,000 for office expenses, this money to be used at the discretion of the board at Philadelphia.

Dr. Neely, of Philadelphia, wanted the matter resubmitted to the committee, and, in an impassioned manner, contended that the proposed action would not be proper. Soon as he concluded a dozen delegates strove for the floor to answer his objections. Bishop Foster finally secured it, and moved, as a substitute to Neely's motion that the committee's report be taken up at once. The motion was seconded and then followed a lively debate.

Various speakers kept at the matter until finally Bishop Morrill settled it by putting the question and the committee report was accepted. The business of passing on amounts assigned various conferences was then resumed.

Practical.
"The true journalist," said the observing man, "takes an artistic pride in making a long story short, I suppose."
"That's where you suppose wrong," replied the New York reporter. "We get paid by space. The real art is to make a short story long."—Washington Star.

I have also seen the world, and after long experience have discovered that ennui is our greatest enemy and remunerative labor our most lasting friend.
